Name Your Mountain continues the exciting No Name Series as the high school basketball team matures and faces new challenges. When the all American Indian team in Trust Your Name enters a national-level tournament, the team travels to big cities and has new experiences, but all is not well.

Choctaw Bobby Byington and his new friend, Creek shooting guard Eddie, are torn between struggles on the court and painful episodes back home. With the door of adulthood looming, Coach Robison urges his players to choose the path they want to climb and to “never hesitate—never give up—in your struggle to reach the top.”

Tim Tingle (Choctaw) is the author of 12 acclaimed books and has received numerous awards and widespread recognition:

- Recipient of the 2018 Arrell Morgan Gibson Lifetime Achievement Award
- Four-time winner of the American Indian Youth Literature Award

Like some other Native teens on Montana reservations, Rhonda Runningcrane attempted suicide. To her, life seemed bleak and pointless. But when she learns that donations are needed to support a large protest against an oil company running a pipeline through sacred Native land, something inside her clicks. Unlike her friends, Rhonda is inspired to join the fight, even though she knows it could be dangerous.

Using skills she learned from her uncle, Rhonda becomes part of the crew that keeps the protesters’ camp running. With inspiration from a wise Native elder, the teen commits herself to an important cause, dedicating her life to protecting the sacred waters of Mother Earth.

Gary Robinson (Choctaw/Cherokee), an award-winning writer and filmmaker, has participated in the production of dozens of Native American educational, informational, and documentary television projects. For more information, visit his website at tribaleyeproductions.com.

Autumn Dawn is sick of being bullied at school. It's not her fault that she doesn't learn as fast as the other kids or that she speaks a little differently. Her home life isn't much better. Ever since Autumn's dad left, her mother can't cope, so Autumn has to care for her baby brother and do all the housework. Her mother hasn't even noticed the problems her daughter is dealing with.

When Autumn's Ojibwa aunt comes to visit, she recognizes Autumn's dyslexia and speech problems. Can Aunt Jessie build a bridge between mother and daughter and give Autumn the confidence she needs to move past her challenges?

Kim Sigafus (Ojibwa) is an award-winning Ojibwa writer and Illinois Humanities Road Scholar speaker. She has coauthored two award-winning 7th Generation books in the Native Trailblazers series of biographies (see below). Her fiction work includes The Mida, an eight-volume series about a mystically powerful time-traveling carnival owned by an Ojibwa woman. She is enrolled in the White Earth Indian Reservation in northern Minnesota and resides with her husband in Freeport, Illinois. For more information, visit kimberlysigafus.com.
